PROGRAM BRIEF

Darren Campher Consulting is focused on providing empowering opportunities through various programs, specifically Trading the Financial Markets & Small Business Support.

Trading is a unique tool that allows us to multiply our money with:

- No additional overhead costs
- No human resources
- Very little capital (when compared to a business)
- Unlimited free time

Trading as a whole (stocks, currencies, commodities, indices & cryptocurrency) has become a lucrative means of increasing one's monthly income, supplementing growth of savings and even becoming full-time careers for some.

Trading is not easy, but it simple; all that is required of focus on key principles: Consistency, Discipline & Patience.

DCC is in its 5th year of the trader support program. We have worked with 200+ students who have gone through training and are well on their way to mastering this unique skill. From full time students to permanent employees; some are funding their own accounts while others are registered prop traders.

We intend to actively make a difference in our participant's lives by empowering them to intentionally & consistently manage/grow THEIR OWN capital.

Below you will find the full details of the program's components and pricing, followed by some information on the sections we tackle over the 6 months.

FUNDAMENTAL ANALYSIS

Fundamental analysis is the study of economic and/or political events that drive price action seen in technical or chart analysis. There are many reasons for a currency to weaken or strengthen. Proper use of fundamental analysis will help find the most probable trades from a macro economic perspective and find confluence with your chart analysis.

To summarize, fundamental analysis tells you what currency might be weakening or strengthening, while chart analysis tells you when the best time is to execute your buy/sell order.

CHART ANALYSIS

Chart analysis is simply the study of price action over various time frames. Also known as technical analysis, it is one of the most useful and often sole tool many traders use in determining whether to take a trade or not.

It consists of the use of Fibonacci retracements, support & resistance lines, Elliot wave theory, chart patterns and candlestick formation. There are many other tools available to a trader, but our focus will be on the most necessary elements for a clean chart with maximum confluence.

Lastly, chart analysis with DC consulting also covers how to accurately take multiple entries on a single trade (currency pair) as well as scaling in and out of this trade using proper risk management.

TRADING - PSYCHOLOGY

Trading psychology is essentially the structure created to govern your emotions while trading.

Sound trading psychology takes consistency to perfect. The career of a trader is to watch a market that is unpredictable in nature and take what is coveted everyday (money) and to now view it as a tool in creating wealth.

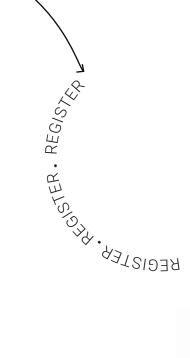

The dissociation from money as a form of stored value to a tool in a daily career is often solved by a sound risk management system coupled with the discipline of implementing repeatable lifestyle habits. I.e. The market is erratic, so we help you develop you a system of habits for you to remain calm and decisive.

RISK MANAGEMENT

Perhaps the most vital tool in a successful trader's arsenal and the downfall of any trader who dares enter the market without it.

Risk management is the structure or system set in place to ensure that trades taken are both within the risk parameters of the trader's account and created to ensure that the trader does not lose all his funds.

To trade without a risk management plan consisting of (1) capital requirements for your chosen strategy (2) realistic targets which will not strain the account and (3) lot sizes which will not result in an over-leveraged position, is to willingly become part of the 90% of unsuccessful traders.
